

AMELIA VAUGHN

Amelia Vaughn joined the Children's Funding Project as a Project Manager in the beginning of 2019. Amelia's scope includes the 'Find' and 'Align' levers of CFP's approach, early childhood, working with national networks and coalitions, and assisting the organization with research, writing and grant writing.

Prior to this role, Amelia consulted with CFP on projects related to fiscal mapping for early childhood strategic financing. Amelia also brings her experience working with state governments to CFP. She has worked for the Virginia Governor's Children's Cabinet, where she completed a fiscal map of supports and services for children and youth ages 0-18, and for Virginia's Department of Medical Assistance Services where she was a policy advisor. Amelia has always been passionate about improving equitable access to quality prenatal and early childhood services. She began her career as a bilingual parent educator for the early childhood home visiting program CHIP and as a birth doula. When she is not working on creative and empathetic solutions to providing more equitable and quality services to our youngest generation, she waterskis across the world with her husband.

A native from Baltimore, Amelia holds a Bachelor's degree in Public Health Studies from Johns Hopkins University and a Master's of Public Health degree from Virginia Commonwealth University.
